Minutes – Denver Chapter of APSG – July 26, 2011

Old Spaghetti Factory, 1215 18th Street Denver, CO 80202-1401

Topic & Discussion

14 new folks and 6 existing APSG members met at the Old Spaghetti Factory in Denver for lunch on Tuesday July 26, 2011. Jan Van Sickle made a brief statement at the beginning of the meeting outlining the parameters of the current APSG organization based in Houston.

He explained that the Denver Chapter would be the first established. He also passed out paper applications for membership and a document that made three requests of those attending. Those requests were:

1. If you are not already a member of APSG please join today.

   Jan passed out hard copy applications noting the annual fee is only $25.00

   Or you can join online http://www.apsg.info/

2. Please submit an abstract for a paper that would be given at the next Denver Chapter APSG meeting in January 2012 on The most pressing surveying/mapping issue plaguing the O&G industry in our region today.

3. Asked for assistance in finding a place for the next – full day - meeting in January 2012. It would be best if a company would be willing to donate the space for a day to support our efforts.

Following this brief presentation the group ate lunch. At the end of lunch Jan reminded everyone to please help with the three requests and suggested that the next meeting would be held in January when arrangements were completed
